ETHICS GUIDELINES FOR TOWN ADVISORY BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

(Please check if you agree.)

____ Yes, if appointed, I pledge to comply with the following ethics guidelines for advisory boards and commissions as adopted by the Chapel Hill Town Council. (Other Council committees and OWASA are excluded.)

Members of advisory boards and commissions shall not discuss, advocate, or vote on any matter in which they have a conflict of interest or an interest which reasonably might appear to be in conflict with the concept of fairness in dealing with public business. A conflict of interest or a potential conflict occurs if a member has a separate, private, or monetary interest, either direct or indirect, in any issue or transaction under consideration. Any member who violates this provision may be subject to removal from the board or commission.

If the advisory board or commission member believes he/she has a conflict of interest then that member should ask the advisory board or commission to be recused from voting. The advisory board or commission should then vote on the question on whether or not to excuse the member making the request. In cases where the individual member or the advisory board or commission establishes a conflict of interest, then the advisory board or commission member shall remove themselves from the voting area.

Any advisory board or commission member may seek the counsel of the Town Attorney on questions regarding the interpretation of these ethics guidelines or other conflict of interest matters. The interpretation may include a recommendation on whether or not the advisory board or commission member should excuse himself/herself from voting. The advisory board or commission member may request the Town Attorney respond in writing.

Please provide a brief statement outlining why you wish to serve on the Advisory Boards, Commissions, or Committees you have indicated.

For as long as I can remember I have enjoyed reading novels for their stories, their reflection of the times they were written as well as my delight of an author's turn of the word. While teaching at Seawell Elementary School, one of my goals was sharing this joy as well as fostering the importance of analyzing and evaluating written matter. As a result I enrolled in the training as a Great Books leader because I believe that a strong citizen population is required not only to understand written matter but to be able to critique it. Great Books develops critical thinking, enlarging discussions of reading matter from comprehension to analysis and implied meaning. It was my pleasure to use this method in my classroom, as well as to train volunteers who read with our students.

A public library like public schools is charged with the task of reducing the inequalities among its population. This is particularly true in Chapel Hill where a large percentage of our citizens are well educated, use the library and even have private collections of books and magazines. Our library serves both this population as well as those whose only source of books and media equipment resides on Estes Drive. With creative thinking we will be able to continue enlarging our collection as well as embracing more of our citizens as consumers. I would like to support you to continue your good work.

I am applying to serve on the Chapel Hill Public Arts Commission because of my interest in art as an active part of public life, and my love of Chapel Hill, and desire to make it an even more special place. I moved to Chapel Hill almost a year ago, in June of 2010, and since moving, I have come to appreciate many aspects of the town, as well as the active participation of its citizens in all aspects of public life. While I was a college student (2000-04) I became involved in art installations: creating and displaying some of my own work, as well as curating the works of other students. These interests continued after I graduated from college while I lived in New York City, northern New Jersey, and Lviv, Ukraine. In each place I resided, I was excited to have the opportunity to help contribute to the presentation of art in more and less formal settings, and to help weave art into the public sphere. I have learned a great deal from these experiences, and I look forward to working with the arts on a different level in Chapel Hill on the Public Arts Commission. I like Chapel Hill's progressive attitudes and I am eager to work with the Commission on ideas for promoting and introducing art throughout the town.

ETHICS GUIDELINES FOR TOWN ADVISORY BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

Yes, if appointed, I pledge to comply with the following ethics guidelines for advisory boards and commissions as adopted by the Chapel Hill Town Council. (Other Council committees and OWASA are excluded.)

Members of advisory boards and commissions shall not discuss, advocate, or vote on any matter in which they have a conflict of interest or an interest which reasonably might appear to be in conflict with the concept of fairness in dealing with public business. A conflict of interest or a potential conflict occurs if a member has a separate, private, or monetary interest, either direct or indirect, in any issue or transaction under consideration. Any member who violates this provision may be subject to removal from the board or commission.

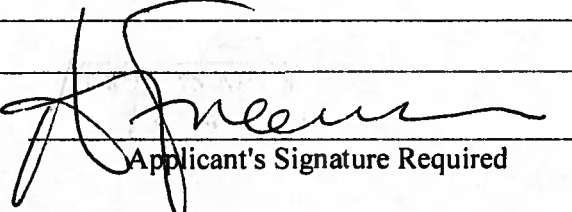

If the advisory board or commission member believes he/she has a conflict of interest then that member should ask the advisory board or commission to be recused from voting. The advisory board or commission should then vote on the question on whether or not to excuse the member making the request. In cases where the individual member or the advisory board or commission establishes a conflict of interest, then the advisory board or commission member shall remove themselves from the voting area.

Any advisory board or commission member may seek the counsel of the Town Attorney on questions regarding the interpretation of these ethics guidelines or other conflict of interest matters. The interpretation may include a recommendation on whether or not the advisory board or commission member should excuse himself/herself from voting. The advisory board or commission member may request the Town Attorney respond in writing.

Please provide a brief statement outlining why you wish to serve on the Advisory Board(s), Commission(s), Committee(s) or Task Force(s) to which you are applying.

In follow-up to my candidacy for a seat on the Chapel Hill Town Council during the 2011 municipal election, I would like to change focus and direct my energies towards serving as an Advisory Board or Commission member to the Town of Chapel Hill. I submit this membership application as I believe my personal interest in community affairs combined with enthusiasm to serve the Town will stimulate my best effort forth as a contributing Chapel Hill citizen.

I am in love with the arts and think they are extraordinarily valuable to any community. They matter politically, educationally, and aesthetically to the daily lives of us all. Chapel Hill is in a unique position being centered around UNC to tap into remarkable talent and resources present at such a large university. Chapel Hill is already an extremely vibrant, artistic community and fostering our relationship with UNC can only help.

I am president of the Chancellor's Student Innovation Team and president/founder of Carolina Creates, a student organization built around fostering the remarkable artistic talent on campus. You can check out our website for more information (www.facebook.com/CarolinaCreates). I would love nothing more than to help strengthen the artistic presence within Chapel Hill.
