

a Michael Nash film

A documentary film about "the human face of climate change."

CLIMATE REFUGEES

To the Residents of World...

Within the next few years millions of people will leave their homes because changes in the world's climate will destroy the basis for their livelihoods.

"This film is an agent for social change."

Robert Redford, NY Times

Thursday, October 14th

Cornell Cinema 7pm

Willard Straight Theatre

$4 student, $7 public, $5.50 senior

Discussion to follow with Film Director Michael Nash and Cornell experts Sean Sweeney and Charles Greene

Sponsored by the Society for Natural Resources Conservation (SNRC), Kyoto Now!,
ILR Global Labor Institute, ILR, Cornell Center for a Sustainable Future, and the SAFC

www.Cinema.Cornell.edu

www.ClimateRefugees.com