

Orange County Beekeepers 2013 Beekeeping Class

This course is designed to help a new beekeeper learn the basics of keeping bees. It is also a refresher for people who have been keeping bees for a while but want to learn more and update their knowledge.

We will meet on Tuesday evenings starting on January 8th through from 7 to 9 pm. We will meet at the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Hillsborough on the corner of Lawrence and Old NC 10. Your fee will include the classes, 2 field days and the text book, First Lessons in Beekeeping by Keith Delaplane.

The cost is $65. Please register online at <http://theocba.org/>

There is only room for 75 participants so signup early.

The Orange County Beekeeper's Association is here to help support the beekeeping community, to assist the general public in beekeeping issues and to spread the word about the benefits of honey bees.
